Dear Parents/Carers

Your son/daughter has a detailed RAG sheet for each of the mock papers that they sat. The sheet indicates their strengths (G) through to their gaps (R) which they have been encouraged to use to inform their private revision.

In order to support this we have been providing lots of additional work as well as their weekly homework and will provide extra materials for them to complete during the Easter holidays. Each student will be given 2 past papers which need to be completed by their return after the Easter break. We are also promoting the use of PIXL and Mymaths so additional work is being set through those websites. If your son/daughter has any problem logging on to either site please do not hesitate to contact me and I will re issue usernames and passwords. I would ask that students do log into their personal accounts as it enables us to track and monitor their progress.

At the start of the year all students were given a guide on how to revise Maths and a list of our recommended websites. The most popular ones are Corbettmaths, Fastpastpapers and Seneca Learning. All resources are free and very good. Any additional work that is completed will be marked if given to the class teacher.

Should you require any further information about how best to support your son/daughter with their revision, please contact me or their class teacher and we will be happy to help.

Yours sincerely

Julie Howes
